Eunited Infotech Software Development Centre Our software development centre is one of the best in India that develop software solutions for some big Indian and International names such as HCL India , IBM International, Dell International, Zenith India, Siemens International, and Eunited Adlogic just to name a few. We work on solutions for our in house companies and on out sourced jobs from other clients. We also provide skilled and experienced developers to other companies on a per project bases. We work on a strict Intellectual Information Privacy Policy so ensure that you project information does not fall into the wrong hands. Currently running on an in house man power of 50 project developers and can take on upto 300 freelance project developers depending on the project. We cover all aspects of project development right from planning and architecture development to coding and testing. We also have a SOA competency centre and a Development Centre and undertake jobs based on the needs of our clients.
